It has been done and no doubt some survived, but only because green food happened to be accessible, and the chick after eating the poison, found the antidote. A dog can eat Rough on Rats and then drink a pan of milk and suffer no injury, hut that does not justify me in advising it as a steady diet for dogs. Those who prefer the dry grain ration should after the third day use pinhead oat meal and a little millet seed until they can eat cracked wheat, finely chopped corn, and hulled oats, which latter should constitute the main food for a growing chick. Add to this a little millet or chopped sunflower seed with a little (very little) cut green bone or lean meat dally after they are ten days old, the amount depending on the season and the number of. Insects and worms obtainable on range. GnJejilbod;orjtuirky Vegetable food should be fed daily and. and SVegu3ad. aE a. hopee or cow is fed hay. It is just as essential and serves the same purpose in the digestive process In one case as in the other. Accustom them to eat whole wheat, buckwheat and cracked corn as soon as possible. A Preference for Soft Food. Our preference and that of many others, especially where the chicks are raised for market, is soft food, for two reasons: First, because we can combine all the necessary elements and secure...
